Open Call for Visual Poetry: accepting art experiments in the space between viewing and reading.

VISPO at Eyedrum is a Visual Poetry show to be held at Eyedrum Art & Music Gallery on May 1st - May 15th 2010.

The mission of the show is to examine the boundaries of the creative and communicative process by seeking work that combines the literary and visual arts. All forms and approaches to Visual Poetry will be considered. Non-English based work is strongly encouraged.

Deadline for submission of work:

April 23, 2010

2d/3d work (received ready to display)

All sizes of ready to display work are accepted.

Digital file submissions accepted (maximum size 8.5x11-exceptions considered)

No Entry fee. The show is juried and produced by members of the eyedrum literary committee. Please provide email and any info about yourself and the work provided you find necessary. Provide title, medium, and any display/handling instructions necessary. Please provide return addressed envelope and any mailing instructions to have work returned.
